* Retirees attending the NCAE4-HA annual meeting will enjoy spending Thursday exploring Burnsville and Yancey County. On our day trip, we'll visit Mountain Farm in Celo, a 24-acre lavender, blueberry and dairy goat farm. While enjoying the ride, we'll see some of the quilt blocks on the quilt trails that are throughout Yancey and Mitchell Counties. The blocks serve as history repositories, triggering the stories of the sites where they hang. The blocks have been carefully chosen to relate to the stories they represent and, in some instances, have been painted to look like a family quilt. We will eat lunch at one of Burnsville's favorite restaurants and visit some of the downtown shops. Come with us for a peaceful outing to one of WNC's small towns.
