Club Reports

Leaders In Training 4-H Club

Over the past couple of months, we have focused on our presentations. Almost all of us participated at the county level and many went on to district, where we did very well. We are planning a fun summer including camping, going to a baseball game and some water park fun. We are still collecting Christmas lights for our year round fundraising. We have collected several hundred pounds of lights and raised a couple hundred dollars. We are donating half the money raised to Catholic Charities. We are always on the look for service opportunities and will continue to meet on the third Tuesday of the month. We also have a new home for our club. We now meet at the Henderson County Parks and Recreation Building. Boy are we thankful to them for supporting our group.

Dana 4-H Club, Amber Hill, Club Reporter Today we worked on the strawberry garden and picked out weeds. We also had people sweeping up the leaves as a service project for school.

Young Naturalists 4-H Club,

Matthew King, Reporter
This month we have continued to prepare for our WHEP competition on May 3. We also conducted rifle and archery practices to prepare for the district shoot on August 9. Some of us also helped out in the plant sale at Henderson's produce.

Hoofbeats 4-H Club, Danielle Kuykendall, Reporter

On April 1st the 4H Hoofbeats had their meeting. In the meeting a couple of the members gave demo presentations and deepened our knowledge of horse bits. We had an assembly of eleven people and overall the meeting ran smoothly.

These NC 4-H Congress delegates will be participating in a 4K for 4-H on Sunday, June, 22, to raise money for Many Henderson County 4-H volunteers helped with District Activity Day: Janet Gover, Lisa Nix, and Diana Dalton served as judges, Briana Gover helped chaperon. Leslie Leidecker served as a hostess. Commercial Vegetable Agent Craig Mauney was the Person in Charge of Horticulture presentations. Ivy Olson, County Extension Administrative Assistant, and her husband, Kenny, helped with registration. Volunteer Sybille Nelson helped with data entry. Jacob Bryant helped clean up, along with Maria Dubon, Katherine and Daniela Ayala, and Drue Stinnett.

23 presenters from Henderson County will participate in the public speaking competition at NC State on June 21.

Congratulations 4-H Fashion Revue Participants!

The 4-H Fashion Revue was at Grace Lutheran Church on Friday, May 9. Thirty-four participants, ages 7-15, modeled garments that they sewed themselves. Eight youth, ages 7-18, showed off the large reversible messenger bags that they made. Thirty-eight volunteer sewing teachers worked with the students from January – April, teaching basic sewing skills. 4-H Program Assistant, Sue Janowiak, oversaw the 4-H sewing classes. Family Consumer Science Extension Agent, Renay Knapp, also helped with the classes.
