

2022 Northeast Ag Expo Small Grains Field Day Impact Report

White Hat Seed Farm
Hertford, NC

Topics Covered

- Grain marketing strategies
- Disease management practices
- Weed management practices
- Nitrogen management practices
- Wheat management practices for maximum profitable yields

The Objectives

To provide up-to-date information on crops, technologies, and crop production related practices to growers and other members of the agricultural community.

The Partners

The North Carolina Cooperative Extension Centers of Camden, Chowan, Currituck, Gates, Pasquotank, and Perquimans, the N.C. Small Grain Growers Association, as well as farmers, other commodity groups, and agribusinesses.

The Participants

- 116 in attendance with a total of 97,975 acres of cropland and 20,375 acres of small grains represented
- 87 farmers received pesticide credits
- 18 commercial applicators received pesticide credits, which preserved a total of $131,868 in wages and saved $720 in registration fees
- When asked if they had benefited from previous small grains field days, growers representing a total of 10,625 acres reported an average yield increase of 6.7 bushels per acre resulting in a total value of $569,855
- Growers reported an average adoption rate of 59% based on all information provided at the field day

Comments by Participants

- Excellent information! Keep up the good work.
  - Great content with diverse topics.
- Great information. Learning new practices.
- Very good & informative. Thanks to everyone who helped put on.
  - Excellent job. Thank you!

Adoption of Information

The charts are based on information from 37 evaluations completed out of 116 participants.