Candace Norman Awards

Karen Jones, a dedicated volunteer from Harnett County, was awarded this year's Candace Norman Adult Volunteer Award. Despite the fact her daughter aged out of 4-H 7 years ago, Karen has continued her involvement in the South Central District, state events and committees. Karen is also one of the co-coordinators of the State Show Hospitality room. She spends countless hours making sure that the staff are well hydrated and fed. Karen has been a holding room and oral reasons room coordinator for state horsebowl and horse judging, a judge for scholarships, and secretary for the South Central District.

Averi Sievert, a natural leader in the 4-H club, the Central Carolina Crew of Franklin County, is the recipient of this year's Candace Norman Youth Volunteer Award. She often mentors cloverbuds and new 4-H'ers and helps them learn the proper care of their horses. Outside of 4-H, Averi is a volunteer at her local community hospital's surgical services department and a member of her church youth group. She is also very active in many clubs and activities at her school, Oxford Prep. One of Averi's teachers and coaches said that she "never says no; never complains and never settles; instead she leads."

We appreciate all the time and effort that she dedicates to make our program successful!

Sportsmanship Awards

Landyn Sullivan from Pasquotank County is the recipient of this year's Junior Sportsmanship Award.

Here is a statement from a fellow volunteer: "You will always hear a 'yes ma'am and no ma'am, please and thank you.' His character truly represents the fundamentals and citizenship that 4-H stands for. He was not able to compete at the state show but he has truly supported his team in every way by carrying water buckets and helping fellow 4-H'ers all with a remarkable smile and genuine commitment."

Arista Weber from Carteret County is the recipient of this year's Senior Sportsmanship Award.

Here is a statement from a fellow volunteer: "Arista has been a very active and helpful member to our 1st year 4-H club, the Crystal Coast Trailblazers. She mentors kids, set up and coordinated our 1st bake sale fundraiser. She also serves as our club treasurer. She helps teach the younger riders and always makes sure everyone has what they need. She brings positivity, and energy to us all. She is an inspiration to her club, her family, her friends, and anyone who knows her."
