Raising Heritage Turkeys on Pasture

Presented by the American Livestock Breeds Conservancy

Monday & Tuesday, July 21 9:00 am – 4:30 pm and July 22, Time: 8:30 am - 1:00 pm

New Venue: Peregrine Farm, Graham, NC and Central Carolina Community College, Pittsboro, NC

Leaders: Marjorie Bender, American Livestock Breeds Conservancy
Frank Reese, Jr., Good Shepherd Turkey Ranch

Workshop Registration: $40 (includes lunch on Monday)
Registration Deadline: Friday, July 11, 2008

Turkeys are moving back outside. And not just any turkey; heritage turkeys. This 1 1/2 day clinic will teach outdoor production of heritage turkeys from brooding through processing and marketing. Nutrition & feeds, diseases & predators, management & more will be covered.

Participants will receive a complete production manual (also available at no charge at www.albc-usa.org/downloads.html). Frank Reese, Jr., the primary instructor, has 45 years of experience raising heritage turkeys, and is now leading the nation in re-establishing a market for these hardy and flavorful historic birds. The American Livestock Breeds Conservancy has been saving heritage turkeys since 1997.

As a SARE Professional Development Project, Extension agents and other educators are eligible for fee waivers and travel support.

Questions? Contact the American Livestock Breeds Conservancy at 919-542-5704 or jberanger@albc-usa.org